Variety In Sculpture Work

DENNIS J. EVANS, son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Evans, 924 Hooven Ave., has received a bachelor of arts degree from the Cleveland Institute of Art, and is now employed in the designing development department of General Motors Corp., Detroit.

Pictured is the aluminum sculpture he cast while attending the institute. The two-foot high sculpture was entered, accepted and sold in the 1968 May show sponsored by the Cleveland Museum of Art.

MR. EVANS has also sculptured his sister, Susan Mary Evans, a second grade pupil at Taylor Elementary School.

This sculpture, also shown, was modeled in clay and then cast in plaster by the Garfield High School graduate of 1966.
